ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-5949-1727>

Ph.D. from the Department of Philosophy and History of Ideas at Aarhus University. Currently, Associate Professor at the School of Architecture and Technology at San Jorge University, Zaragoza, where he has taught Aesthetics and now teaches Ethics. What binds together the different research fields, in which he is involved, is the question of how humans can live well and evolve in sustainable ways by developing new practices and ideas in response to political regimes, advanced technologies, urban expansions and ecological crisis.
