Spanish architect, winner of the 2004 National Urban Planning Award. She received the title of architect in 1981 at the Escuela Técnica Superior de Arquitectura de Barcelona (ETSAB), where she earned her doctorate in 1991. Rubert has focused on heritage, public and green spaces, mobility, and transport, especially in the cities of Barcelona, Madrid, and Cartagena, where she has designed management and layout plans. Some of his books includes La ciudad no es una hoja en Blanco: hechos del urbanismo (2000) and Metro, Galaxias metropolitanas (2001) with Josep Parcerisa, or Cities 2: Mediterranean (2018) with Eulàlia Gómez. Among other works, she was co-designer of the expansion of the Palacio de las Cortes in 1994 and was project director for the Olympic Village on Barcelona's Avinguda Diagonal. In 2011, she was appointed full professor of the ETSAB Department of Urban and Territorial Planning in 2011, becoming the country's first woman to reach that rank in the subject.
