Senior Lecturer in Digital Economy at King's College London. He is the author of After Work: A History of the Home and the Fight for Free Time (Verso, 2023 with Helen Hester), Platform Capitalism (Polity, 2016), and Inventing the Future: Postcapitalism and a World Without Work (Verso, 2015 with Alex Williams). Prior to joining King's in 2017, Nick previously taught at University of Westminster, University of West London, UCL, and City, University of London. He was also an editor of Millennium: Journal of International Studies. His current research is continuing this focus by examining the political economy of AI and looking at how (beyond automation) AI will affect the power dynamics of contemporary capitalism.
